KNOX COMMENDS CHORAL GROUP

"There is no harder working or more enthusiastic organization on this campus than the Chorus," states Richard Knox, its director. The Chorus meets only two hours a week on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon.

According to Knox, "Its purpose is to lay the groundwork for a fine choral group and eventually evolve a large and renowned choir. Those who wish to be part of this choir should join the Chorus now."

He added, "There are still a few openings for sopranos and altos, but anyone who has an interest in singing may have an audition."

Campus Clubs Enter Candidates for Queen

All on-campus clubs are asked to sponsor a queen for Home Coming Day, Nov. 18. As soon as candidates are chosen, the names should be given to Ed Austin, president of the Lettermen's Club. The Lettermen will conduct the election of the queen.

Dick Yamashita, president of IOC, announces also that clubs are requested to have floats for the parade, which will precede the game that Formerly the above method was applied even to the first change, but since a law enacted in July of this year mere application is all that is necessary.

A third change is approved only when a short intensive course is necessary to prepare for a critical occupation where there is a shortage of skilled workers.

College Faculty Takes Oath of Allegiance

At a meeting of the College faculty last Tuesday, an oath of allegiance was signed by all faculty members.

The oath, made into law by Gov. Earl Warren's signature, provides that any state employee failing to sign by Nov. 2 shall not be paid for his services.

"Pappy" Yost Leaves Valley

Tom "Pappy" Yost of 7723 Canoga Avenue, Canoga Park, is now working full time at the Reseda News in Reseda.

Yost, who checked out last week, played in the fullback position on Valley College's football team; and although no longer a student at Valley, he shows his loyalty by stating, "I won't miss a Valley football game, even though it is a long trip to Taft, Porterville and Bakersfield."

Yost is working as an apprentice printer at the Reseda News. The Reseda News prints THE VALLEY STAR.

AWS, AMS Announce Dance, Strange Attire, Shoe Shines for Week

Ah, the cool ocean breezes have subsided; the heat has come and gone; but AWS and AMS weeks will go on forever. Well, at least once each semester it will rear its "widdle" head and make Valley College students look like something out of a Howdy Doody serial.

All day Friday and that night will be the only time during the week when the college will return to normality. That evening, dressy dress will be the feature at the Backward Dance. Larry Wolf and his orchestra, who took over Gail Martin's old band, will provide the music. College Hall will be jumping from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. That much is fine. But the rest of the week!

Take Monday, for instance. The women will be attired in those inevitable shirts and ties. Flashy ones, too. And the men! Pajamā tops. Just be sure to leave the bottoms at home

An Overview of Policy

By DR. VIERLING KERSEY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Director Kersey presents philosophies underlying instruction at Valley College in response to a request from the staff of THE VALLEY STAR).

There is a sense of unity on our campus. We all carry on our activities in close relationship. What any one group does, decides or undertakes is important to all. In this spirit of interrelationship between faculty, students and administration a review of matters discussed by faculty and administrators in session recently is

The administrators are anxious to make as many occasions as possible where students and administrators get together. Out of student contacts come the understandings and friendships which

Five weeks' quarter-ending time for the first semester has passed. Personal understanding and individual helpfulness between pupils and instructors now will count for more than at any future time in the college life of each pupil.

By now:

Students know the instructors.

We want them to like every instructor.

Instructors know about the students.

Students should know that instructors like them.

3. The preciousness of each pupil to our college deserves to be felt by students and faculty. Difficulties, discouragement, dilemma are the three D's to master early in college life in order to avoid disaster.

Some guiding principles:

so inform the student.

All students eligible to enroll in junior college are sincerely welcome at Valley College. They have their maximum opportunity here. We are a college offering instruction leading to upper division, general and technical, advanced college and university study.

We offer courses and instruction leading directly to job eligibility at the end of two years, one year, and even after one semester.

Our college presents instruction for those desiring simply to engage in study at junior college grade for further cultural and general advancement.

Valley conducts an evening extension program of courses, all of college grade. These classes are open to students qualified to benefit

Most students will do their best in our college if they pursue study of the direct-aim specific-purpose type rather than merely taking a

'shot gun" try at college study. Whenever an instructor notes a tendency for the standing and class work of a pupil to decline, the instructor should, in conference,

Most pupils of Valley College, in college transfer courses, will make grades which will qualify them for full credit and advanced standing when they complete their study here. Students in college transfer courses who do not hit their pace or do not make very good grades at first should not be allowed to drop out, change their course or be discouraged. At Valley College these pupils are not failures if they are in regular attendance, do their best, have a good attitude and make progress. There are many opportunities for advanced study for such pupils, and they can succeed. It is the obligation of our college to give counseling, guidance and instruction that will introduce students to success—not to failure.

Grades, grading, tests and evaluation at Valley College are personal, individual and high standard. Every student is assured that fornia, he eventually remarked, full knowledge as to the reasons for each grade will be given. All "I like it here the best." standings are subject to explanation and interpretation, even to review if desired.

Each instructor knows the meaning of indoctrination. We suggest that each instructor give an "indoctrination lesson" every now and then. Such lessons will emphasize the spirit, policy and purposes of Valley College.

"Our Mr. Brooks," as he is known to his former students, is now Valley's own Ronald Brooks. Mr. Brooks teaches several commercial courses here at Valley.

A graduate of Arizona State College at Tempe, he received his A.B. degree there and his Master's at Stanford University.

He was director of study at Prescott Senior High School in Arizona and Assistant Director of Student Employment at Arizona State College. 'Our Mr. Brooks' was a Commercial instructor at Gilbert High School and a Registrar in the Phoenir Union High School and College system, before moving to California.

As for Valley, Mr. Brooks feels that it is a wonderful college, and there is more enthusiasm and spirit here, than in any other school he has ever attended. "It is a healthy indication for a growing school."

Or could it be the fault of the Disc-Jockies? YOU can't blame the public for not liking BOP for the simple reason that the public does not hear enough Bop to know whether it is good or bad. And why doesn't the public hear Bop? Because many of the Disc-Jockies refuse to play it. As a matter of fact, it is true in some cases that they won't play certain records unless they are paid. When Stan Kenton gave his last concert at the Hollywood Bowl, many of our local "jockles" refused to play Stan's rec ords unless they were paid per record. Nice state of affairs.

A familiar face around the campus last week was the one owned and worn by Pete Nitrini. Nitrini just got back from a summer of professional baseball back in the mid-west. Known last year as "Valley's Mr. Shortstop" "Big Pete" saved many a game with his timely hitting and sensational fielding.

Nitrini's buddy last year, Ronmie Gerst is over the hill at UCLA this year and will no doubt be one of the Bruins' big stickers come spring. Both Gerst and Nitrini made all Metropolitan Conference last year.

Bob McCaffrey, another Monarchite turned pro, is around the campus. "Mac" dropped out of school in the middle of baseball season last semester and signed with the New York Yankees. He was assigned to Kla-

John Duncan Runs Wild at Flagstaff

A former valley College letterman and cheer leader in the personage of Johnny Duncan is currently the football rave at Arizona State at Flagstaff.

Duncan, who passed up prep football to play for the great Mc-Kinley Home aggregation of the past few years, is destined to carve himself quite a niche in Border Conference football.

Duncan has carried the ball thus far 19 times and has 119 yards chalked up in two games. He has gathered in four aerial heaves for 84 yards and last week sped 89 yards for a touchdown against LaVerne College as the Staters won going away, 73-0.

Duncan ran the sprints and low hurdles last year for the Monarch cinder squad and was a cheer leader along with Chuck Moran during basketball season.

It is unknown at present just who will be the coach for the Spanish group, but Jack Jevne will use his knowledge of the game to spur the spirit of the fighting Frenchmen. Prior to this match the teams have met only once before, and that game was a decided victory for the Les Societares du Lapin Agile.

Of course, to speak to any Frenchman, the general consensus of opinion is that the team will use its flying colors once again. "Vivre le champion!"

Touch football is an exciting game in its own right, but when two girls will be included as players on each team—WOW!

Furthermore, if football is a game where the old theory of the hand being quicker than the eye is disproved, watch all eyes light an when these pretty co-eds take the field and trot in those touchdowns!

Naturally the winning team will have a feather in its cap, and even more likely all congratulations will have to be in native tongue. If you don't speak the language, come along anyway-this game should make or break all acceptable football standards.

Ping Pong Players Slate Doubles Now

Valley's ping pong tournament blossoms into full bloom with the preliminary games of the mixed doubles slated today.

Men's and women's singles matches have gone into the third round, while men's and women's doubles got underway at the beginning of this week.

All finals start Monday, October 23. Rules are two out of three for singles, and three out of five for doubles. Men single players who bear watching include—Jack Jevne, Dick Hatzer, Nick Borsay, Wendell Niles Jr. and Bill Wells.

The ping pong tables have been moved to the north side of College Hall. All spectators are requested to allot participants adequate playing space.

New Psychology Group Begins

Valley College adds one more club to its many other campus organizations with the formation of the Psychology Club which will be mutually sponsored by Charles Locks and Charles Marsh, psychology instructors.

The purpose of the club is to extend student interest and participation beyond that normally acquired in classroom instruction. The group will be restricted to those Valley students who have taken or are taking psychology courses.

Meetings, to be held on campus at least once a month, will consist of timely discussions, outside speakers, book reviews. planned field trips, experimental projects, social functions and related acti-

Information sheets are now being given to interested students to find out the most suitable time and place for meetings which will be announced at a later date. Mr. Marsh or Mr. Locks will give further details to those

Prismon Strolls With Surprise

No one could believe his ears last Friday, October 13, when Donald Prismon went strolling through the campus announcing the cancellation of classes begin-

The belief came when Mike Seeger, student body president, made an official announcement much to the amazement and happiness of the students.

It was the hope that it would be the beginning of an established tradition on campus. The temperature at that time in R. 12 was, unofficially, 102! And it was hotter outside!

Mike Seeger was easily the Newman Club members and remarkable Friday the 13th. The campus was cleared, practically, by 12:30 p.m.

Fashion Flicker

You too can have a share in this booming business called fashion! It's fun and noteworthy news when you read a buyer's column or attend an exclusive fashion preview; little things that the expert demonstrates are definitely the very big things that go over with such an ovation on campus. Keep your eye trained for details, and when the eventual holiday buying rush starts, consider the advice of fashion experts before you make any decisions. NEWSIE VIEWS
